

Ms. Sheetal Agarwal, CEO

Ms. Sheetal Agarwal, the Chief Executive Officer of Sai Tirupati University, Umarda, is a forward-thinking leader whose exceptional administrative acumen and strategic foresight have been central to the university's rise as a prominent institution in higher education. Her leadership is defined by a deep commitment to delivering quality education through student-centric policies, academic innovation, and a strong emphasis on institutional accountability. Under her stewardship, the university has witnessed a remarkable increase in student enrolment, reflecting growing public trust and academic reputation across Rajasthan and beyond. She has been instrumental in streamlining academic operations, introducing digital learning, and enhancing the overall learning environment with a focus on student outcomes and faculty development from medical to management studies. Through her effective management, the university has achieved consistent academic results and successfully integrated value-based education with professional skill-building, producing industry-ready medical graduates. She has not only championed initiatives that foster inclusive learning and equal opportunities, but also she made a special focus on treatments of general people from rural backgrounds in minimum cost. Her emphasis on continuous improvement, accreditation standards, and internal quality assurance mechanisms has played a key role in the university's sustained growth and reputation for academic integrity. With a clear vision for the future, Ms. Sheetal Agarwal continues to lead Sai Tirupati University toward national recognition, driven by excellence, inclusivity, and innovation.
