

EVENT COMPLETION REPORT

Event Name: “स्वच्छ हाथ सुरक्षित मरीज”

Date: 10th Nov. 2025

Time: 11:00 AM

Venue: Hospital Reception Area, PIMS, Umarda

Organized by: Venkateshwar College of Nursing, Umarda, Udaipur

1. Introduction

The educational skit was successfully organized and presented by the Nursing students of Venkateshwar College of Nursing on November 10, 2025, starting at 11:00 AM in the high-visibility Hospital Reception Area. The performance was designed to be an effective teaching tool, creatively demonstrating the correct steps and critical moments for handwashing, as per best practice guidelines. The World Health Organization (WHO) emphasizes the importance of hand hygiene in preventing healthcare-associated infections (HCAIs).

2. Objective

The primary objective of the skit, titled “स्वच्छ हाथ सुरक्षित मरीज” (Clean Hands-Safe Patients), was to foster deep awareness among students, faculty, and hospital attendees regarding the crucial role of hand hygiene in infection control and in promoting safe patient practices within the clinical environment.

- Hand hygiene is the simplest and most effective way to prevent the spread of infections.
- Healthcare workers' hands are the most common vehicle for the transmission of pathogens.
- Proper hand hygiene practices can reduce HCAIs by up to 30%.

3. Program Summary

The skit was enthusiastically received by all attendees, including faculty members whose guidance was sought by the circular. By delivering an essential public health message in an engaging format, the students successfully reinforced the institution's commitment to high standards of hygiene and contributed significantly to a stronger culture of patient safety.
